Catemaco in Veracruz, Mexico is known for two things: It's the place where Mel Gibson directed Apocalypse, and it is full of self-called witches that work either for God or the Devil. VICE doesn't really care about Mel's movie, but we were quite enchanted by the idea of a town that has gotten such a huge

I notice that all the Latins seem to be very superstitious and religious...not necessarily just the Latin Americans, but also the Latin Europeans like Spaniards, Italians and Portuguese - lots of superstition, witchcraft, and religious experiences. It's interesting that these concepts still survive even in the modern world.

yeah pay no mind to that fool Francisco, although I know you've already repelled his stupidity and forgotten him. let me speak on behalf of a Mexican who grew up aware of the superstition that when on in Mexico and that lives through the souls of the Mexican (or many Hispanic people) people. I have never really had anything extremely dark or truly sinister happen to me but most of my family who came from over the border tells me stories about things many people would call BS on. But I believe them. They talk about my aunts exorcisms, witches who you could see flying at night on brooms that looked like fireballs in the sky when very far, crazy shit like that. The Hispanic/Latin and natives of Mexico and below are very superstitious and spiritual indeed. But go around the world and you will see plenty of superstition because stuff that seems made up is actually true in a way. The black dog with red eyes for example (well known all over the world)

+Mario Pellegrini most of the superstition in Mexico has roots from Mesoamerican beliefs indigenous peoples in Mexico and North America have similar belief system of death were the owl is the omen of death, to this day some Mexicans believe if you see an owl death will come. But since most Mexicans are Catholic, superstitions have been mixed with Catholic belief and indigenous beliefs because of the colonial times when Spain ruled mexico until 1821

It stems all the way back to the Roman Empire, when Gods and myths were told from generation to generation. The Rise of Rome is actually a very religious story, where two brothers were brought up and fed by a wolf, and when they grew up they were to create the most powerful empire in all of history.

I mean u gotta think about the history of Latin America. First there is amerindian religions, catholicism from the 13th century and african religions. These were all mixed and with the amount of people who died during the age of exploration you can definitely see why we are more spiritual than the US. Our culture has been very superstitious since forever

I am from Moluccan origin from the Maluku islands (island group in Indonesia) the indigenous people of Maluku who lived there from the beginning of time believed that everything around them had a spiritual essence. Like the ground, stones, trees, animals but also rivers and mountains etc. they learned to use the spiritual powers of those things (shamanism) and in this way it became a part of the culture, the way of living.. this is not only in Maluku but throughout whole Indonesia they all believe in the same spiritual things. Throughout the colonization of the Dutch in 16th century and the arrival of the Islam and Christianity these beliefs still remained as it was before but only at a second place after the Religions. My grandfather and 4000 other Moluccan men who served in the army of the Dutch were sent with there families to the Netherlands after WWII. That was 67 years ago and now me as a 3rd generation of Moluccan people living in the Netherlands (Western world) where everyone is atheist and think these things are just Disney tails I can say and confirm that throughout all those centuries it still has managed to survived into modern day society even here in the western world, I think it will always exist. Because these things have always been there even if you believe it or not. What I found out which is extraordinary, is that all countries around the equator are into these spirituals things (black magic, white magic etc..) and they all started from the indigenous people like in this case in the video are the OLMEC.. a lot of things I have seen in this video matches with my people. Could there be somehow be a connection?

EXTRA INFO: Nowadays in Maluku or In the Netherlands they don't practice these thing wide and open for everyone to see and join like in Mexico in fact here in the Netherlands there are not a lot of people who do black magic. But all of us know it exist and what happens if you get in touch with it direct or indirect. For Maluku and Indonesia it's a different story. There are a lot who practise it (it's the land of origin ofcourse) but they don't want people to know. They use it to make people sick, cause bad luck or worst case scenario make people die. If they get caught they'll kill the witch or they'll get chased out of the village they live in.

Blood isn't full of bacteria when it's in the body (that would be really bad), and therefore not when you first puncture the blood vessels either. It has to sit around for a while to grow bacteria. The problem is that most of the meat we eat has sat around for a really long time and needs to be cooked thoroughly as a result.

Ok, that's a good point. Animals can carry viruses in their blood that could be transmitted this way. Birds don't carry HIV, but they could carry bird flu. I'm not sure they give it to animals that eat them, though.

That's an important thing to remember, too. Animals eat birds every day without cooking them, and they're usually fine.

He told them, 'The secret of the kingdom of God has been given to you. But to those on the outside everything is said in parables so that, ' "they may be ever seeing but never perceiving, and ever hearing but never understanding; otherwise they might turn and be forgiven!" ' Then Jesus said to them, 'Don't you understand this parable? How then will you understand any parable?"

Mark 4:11-13 NIVUK

<http://bible.com/113/mrk.4.11-13.nivuk>

"Lucifer" a Latin translation of the Hebrew word, " hê-lêl" (morning star), which was given to the prophet Isaiah by Yahweh, in order to mock the group of fallen spirits who, in the beginning, sinned by working to be rulers over God's rule.

In Isaiah chapter 14, Yeshua our God mocks this group of rebellious spirits who wanted to be like He who is "the day star."

If you have ears, listen us, Jesus is "the lucifer," (lux= light, ifer--bearer).

He is the brightest star in the sky. So Yahweh said, "take up this TAUNT against the king of Babylon." He is mocking the adversary ("Satan" is Hebrew for, "adversary.")

I encourage you to ask Jesus for wisdom, ask Him for mercy and forgiveness always, for He is and there is no other.

God has given us great resources to check into what these names mean.

Remember, If we don't believe in Jesus, we will know nothing, for He blinds us by His power, and in His perfection. He is a perfect judge, as it is written.

gnarmarmilla In this part of the Bible, it basically talks about the war in heaven when Lucifer became Satan. If you had knowledge Satan was called Lucifer before he had sinned.

"In Him was life, and that life is the light of mankind, that light shines in the darkness, and darkness apprehend it not."

These are the words of our creator.

Today, I am going to ask God for your wisdom and faith, in the name of Yeshua (Jesus).

So that we can praise God together 213 trillion years from now, "in the new heavens and new earth." (Isaiah 66)

"I came not for the righteous, but for he ungodly and sinners." -- Yeshua, The Son of God.

Obviously Lúclifer is different from Satan, the use of baphomet as the image of the christian Satan is, ironically, due to church. The templars were accused of worshipping a figure called baphomet but in that time it didn't had any iconographic representation. Eliphas Levi, a brilliant occultist, created the image of baphomet

Satan is not a fallen angel , angels are made with no free will the only worship god alone, Satan was from the jinn he was made out of smokeless fire , he was so pious so god took him on the same level of the angels, then Allah creates Adam (as) Satan looked at him and he felt jealous , so Allah told

Firas Alawami I can easily prove you wrong from your statement...you said "angels are made with no free will the only worship god alone" then why does the Bible say that 1/3 of the angels fell with Lucifer? from that statement, angels have a free will, otherwise 1/3 of the fallen angels and Lucifer wouldn't have rebelled against God.

As Allah said in the Quran in the meaning : "indeed that shaytan (Satan) was from the jinns not from the angels "

Firas Alawami well I'm just a guy who lives a Buddhist lifestyle and while believing and loving the biblical God and his only begotten son Jesus (the Messiah). dont you think as a Muslim you're being a little too harsh? I even had Muslim friends in high school, and they never told me harsh things like "your Bible is heavily edited and corrupted"... instead they told me things like "we both believe in the same God"... how can you be 100% confident that your Quran isn't heavily edited or corrupted? how are you sure that a random person didn't write the Quran? these are questions I even ask myself, but as a human, I just have to love God no matter what. I grew up as a biblical believer because the surrounding area I grew up in is dominantly biblical believers.. same for you, you're Muslim because you grew up around dominant Islam believers. what if you grew up with dominant biblical believers? or what if I grew up with dominant Islam believers? how would we know that what we believe is right? how do we both know the doctrines we both read aren't heavily edited or corrupted? the only reason I believe in God and his only no chance of living. but i'm some how still alive. i've been so close to being ran over, jve gotten stabbed and bled too much blood, my mom even somehow survived the Guatemalan genocide that could have made me non existent. but somehow after several extremely near death experiences, i'm somehow still alive... I don't have nothing against muslims. the only thing I have against religious believers is when they say "your book is wrong and your belief system is wrong, but mine is right".. people who say things like that have no proof their belief system is true... it's best if you take some hate out of your heart. i'm open minded with other religious believers. I forgive you for insulting what I believe and love.

told me about it. I was interested then, but I wasn't wise as I am now. I prayed in the Islamic way. I don't remember the prayer much but if I can remember the prayer starts off as "Allah the merciful and beneficial"... that evening after prayer, I felt as if God had left me. never felt the same for that whole 2 weeks. then I went back ad a biblical believer. if it weren't for my Buddhist friends, I think I would have committed suicide back when I was 15.. so no matter how much you try, I'm not interested in converting to Islam again.
